KENTUCKY HOUSE SPEAKER Greg Stumbo of Prestonsburg was flanked by other House Democrats as they unveiled their redistricting plan Friday in Frankfort. Three counties would have new state representatives under plans by both House Democrats and Republicans.

FRANKFORT — Three counties in the Big Sandy region would have at least one new state legislator under redistricting plans that will be considered during the special session of the General Assembly that began Monday.

One of those counties — Lawrence — would have a new state representative and a new senator under the plans.

Under separate proposals by House Democrats and Republicans, Lawrence County, presently in the 99th District, would be placed in a new House district.

In the Democratic plan, Lawrence County would be a part of the 96th District, which would also include Carter County. The 96th District is currently represented by Republican Jill York of Grayson.

Under the GOP proposal, Lawrence County would be moved to the 93rd District, presently represented by Democrat Keith Hall of Phelps.

Lawrence County's current representative, House Majority Floor Leader Rocky Adkins of Boyd County, would be placed in the 99th District, where he would have to face Democratic incumbent INEZ — The opening date for Martin County School District has been postponed for the second time and is now scheduled to begin on Aug. 26.

Superintendent Steve Meadows said he was reluctant to change the date but that he felt after speaking to administrators and teachers that it was the only thing he could do.

"I was at Sheldon Clark High School on Friday at around 9:30 p.m., and they were still working," Meadows said. "The remodeling has

Woman learns it's nice to have Good Neighbors

by Lilly Adkins
ASSOCIATE EDITOR

PAINTSVILLE — The Johnson County Rotary Club, true to its motto of "Service Above Self," once again teamed up with Good Neighbors Inc. to lend a helping hand to a West Van Lear woman whose home was damaged by one of the two March 2, 2012, tornadoes that struck the area.

Good Neighbors Inc. is a local organization founded by Jason Benedict, who is also a past president of the Paintsville Rotary Club. The organization is funded through donations from individuals and businesses with no government grants or support and is designed to render aid to help the working-poor.

Cindy Butcher applied for help from Good Neighbors during the summer of 2012, after she, with no homeowner's insurance, was unable to receive assistance from the Federal Emergency Management Agency (FEMA).

Benedict said his organization teamed with volunteer groups from Morris County, N.J., an area still recovering from Hurricane Sandy, in order to help Butcher.

"To make a difference, it takes a group of people who really put serving others as a top priority," Benedict said. "In this case, it took the combined effort of our Good Neighbors supporters, volunteer church groups from Mendham and Randolph, New Jersey, and a special monetary contribution from the Paintsville Rotary Club to purchase the materials and complete the repairs needed to provide Cindy Butcher with a safe and dry home."

Butcher has been buying her home for the past 13 years on a land contract, Benedict said.

"Cindy works full-time, but she doesn't make a lot of money. She applied, but unfortunately, did not qualify for assistance through any other programs because she works," Benedict said in an e-mail. "The roof of her home was destroyed, her upstairs window was blown out and boarded up. Her siding was falling apart, etc. We replaced her roof, siding, and window as well as several additional repairs.”

Rotary member and Assistant Commonwealth’s Attorney Tony Skeans said one of the reasons he appreciates the club’s participation with Good Neighbors Inc. is because it is “truly giving someone a hand up and not a handout and that you are helping those who want to help themselves, but by no fault of their own just don’t have the finances.”

To qualify for help, people must be Johnson County residents, have a steady history of employment but a need that is greater than they can afford to repair, and the home repair need must pose a threat to the family’s safety or ability to have a dry, livable residence.

All families assisted by Good Neighbor’s Home Repair Program are required to give a day back to help someone else, attend a financial training class and provide part of the materials needed for their repair.

Paintsville Rotary has also been involved in the community through providing dictionaries to local elementary schools, donating to local food pantries and non-profits, and helping to provide a playground for the Highlands Regional Medical Center Autism Center.

Internationally, Paintsville Rotary has joined the fight to eradicate polio by funding vaccination efforts and providing shelter to residents of Haiti.

Paintsville Rotary is able to fund the projects primarily from their Apple Festival Booth, pancake breakfasts, and Christmas wreath sales.

issued by KSP Post 9, officers received a call of a two-vehicle accident on Ky. Rt. 201 in the Sitka community of Johnson County. After officers responded to the scene, they obtained information that indicates that the vehicle driven by Castle crossed the centerline of the roadway and struck a motorcycle operated by Casey Roger Mollett Jr., who was pronounced dead at the scene by Johnson County Coroner, J.R. Frisby.

Officials reportedly said they suspect alcohol to be a contributing factor in the accident.

Mollett wasn’t wearing a helmet at the time of the incident, the report said.

Castle was released on a $50,000 cash or property bond with home confinement. Mollett was a coal miner with Booth Energy.

Along with his parents, Casey Roger and Kelly Marie Laney Mollett, he is survived by a sister, Madison Laney of Paintsville; his paternal grandparents, Worthy and Brenda Mollett; maternal grandparents, Paul and Diane Holt; and maternal great-grandmother, Betty Laney.

Funeral services will be held today (Wednesday) at 11 a.m. at the Boons Camp Free Will Baptist Church with Ronnie Spriggs officiating. Burial will be in the Mollett Cemetery at Boons Camp.

The incident remains under investigation by Trooper Craig Hulsey, who was assisted at the scene by Sgt. Aaron Martin, troopers Shane Hurt and Adam Hensley as well as Transtar Ambulance Service and W.R. Castle Fire Department.

JOHNSON: Drug-related charges head list of indictments

“We are still searching for Christopher Stambaugh,” Johnson County Sheriff Dwayne Price told The Big Sandy News Thursday. “He ran from us a couple of weeks ago at about 120 miles per hour, and after we saw who it was and knew we could identify him, we aborted the chase because it presented too much of a danger for someone to get hurt or killed.”

Stambaugh, 38, of Paintsville is charged with first-degree fleeing and evading; first-degree wanton endangerment; first-degree persistent felony offender and speeding 26 miles per hour or greater.

According to the indictment, on or before July 31, Stambaugh allegedly disregarded signals and commands to stop given by Johnson County sheriff’s deputies Rodney Minix and Byron Fairchild, with the intent to flee or avoid his arrest and in the process engaged in conduct which created a substantial danger of death or serious physical injury to the officers.

Stambaugh is also a twice previously convicted felon and was in physical control of a motor vehicle and operating the motor vehicle at 26 miles per hour or greater in a posted 55-mile-per-hour speed zone, the indictment says.

Those arrested on indictment warrants during the roundup were:

- Joseph “Joey” Young, 20, and Courtney Williams, 20, both of Van Lear, both charged with second-degree trafficking in a controlled substance/complicity and two counts of endangering the welfare of a minor/complicity.

According to the indictment, on or before Jan. 21, Young and Williams, acting alone or in complicity with each other, trafficked in three dosage units of a schedule III controlled substance, Hydrocodone. The indictment also says that on two separate occasions, they knowingly and unlawfully, while being a parent, guardian or person legally charged with the care or custody of a minor, failed or refused to exercise diligence in the control of the child to prevent that child from becoming neglected, dependent or delinquent.

Young is also charged in a second indictment along with Kenneth Meeks, 57, of West Van Lear, with second-degree trafficking in a controlled substance/complicity. Young is also charged for another offense of endangering the welfare of a minor.

According to the indictment, on or before Jan. 16, Young and Meeks, acting alone or in complicity with each other, trafficked in 14 dosage units of a schedule III controlled substance, Hydrocodone.

- Joey Hunter, 31 and Tabitha Hunter, 31, both of Van Lear, charged with second-degree trafficking in a controlled substance.

According to the indictments, on or before Nov. 19, 2012, the Hunters allegedly trafficked in 12 dosage units of a schedule III controlled substance, Hydrocodone.

- April McCarty, 22, Sean Tharp, 28, and Maggie Medicus, 60, all of Hager Hill, charged with first-degree trafficking in a controlled substance/complicity.

According to the indictment, on or before Jan. 16, Tharp, McCarty and Medicus, acting alone or in complicity with each other, allegedly trafficked in 10 dosage units of a schedule II controlled substance, Oxycodone.

- Larry Michael Blackburn, 22, of Paintsville, charged with second-degree trafficking in a controlled substance.

According to the indictment, on or before Feb. 12, Blackburn allegedly trafficked in eight dosage units of a schedule III controlled substance, buprenorphine (Suboxone).

Price said they began rounding up the defendants about 8:30 a.m. Thursday and that some of the individuals were located in the Rockhouse area.

Price also said he contacted Martin County Sheriff, Garmon Preece, and that he picked Tharp up from his job in Martin County.

“If you don’t want to go to jail, you have two choices, either quit selling drugs or move out of the county,” Price said. “It’s that simple. If you are selling drugs, you won’t get a moment’s peace as far as this office is concerned. We are doing all that we can every day to stop the drug problem and I know we haven’t stopped it, but I do believe that we have made a difference.”

Also indicted Wednesday by the Johnson County Grand Jury were:

- Melissa A. Childers, 43, of Stambaugh, charged with assistance program fraud.

According to the indictment, on or before Feb. 1, 2011, through February of this year, Childers allegedly knowingly and unlawfully with intent to defraud, made a false statement or misrepresentation or by other means failed to disclose a material fact used in determining the person’s qualification to receive benefits under any assistance program, or with intent to defraud, failed to report a change in the factors affecting the person’s eligibility for benefits in the amount of $3,811.

- Bridgett A. Conley, 35, of Staffordsville, charged with assistance program fraud.

According to the indictment, on or before Nov. 1, 2010, through Feb. 28 of this year, Conley allegedly knowingly and unlawfully with intent to defraud, made a false statement or misrepresentation or by other means failed to disclose a material fact used in determining the person’s qualification to receive benefits under any assistance program, or with intent to defraud, failed to report a change in the factors affecting the person’s eligibility for benefits in the amount of $23,053.06.

- Larry Daltry Bartley, 20, of Paintsville, charged with manufacturing methamphetamine, two counts of first-degree wanton endangerment and tampering with physical evidence.

According to the indictment, on or before July 12, Bartley allegedly knowingly and unlawfully manufactured methamphetamine or was in possession of the chemicals and equipment to manufacture methamphetamine with the intent to manufacture methamphetamine and or manufacturing methamphetamine; engaged in conduct which created a substantial danger of serious physical injury to others, including Sharon Ross, Judy Montgomery and Josh Osborne, and he also defaced, destroyed or concealed physical evidence that he felt was to be used against him in an official setting.

Editor’s note: An indictment is not an indication of guilt but a determination by a grand jury that criminal charges warrant further judicial review.

Kevin Sinnette of Ashland in the next election.

But Adkins, a Sandy hook native, told reporters Monday that he is considering moving into the new proposed 99th District, which would include Elliott, Rowan and Lewis counties.

Lawrence County would also have a new state senator under a plan unveiled last Thursday by leaders of the Republican-controlled Senate.

Currently part of the 27th District, represented by Walter Blevins of Morehead, Lawrence County would be moved into the 31st District, presently represented by Democrat Ray Jones of Pikeville.

That district currently includes Johnson, Martin and Pike counties. Martin County would remain part of the district under the Republican plan, but Johnson County would be placed in the 30th District, presently represented by Republican Brandon Smith of Hazard. The new 30th District would also include Magoffin, Breathitt, Perry and Leslie counties.

While Martin County would continue to be in the 31st Senate District, it would become part of a new House District.

Currently in the 97th House District, represented by Democrat Hubert Collins of Wittenburg, Martin County would be moved into the 93rd District, which is represented by Hall, as proposed by House Democrats. Under the Republican plan, Martin County would also be in the 93rd District along with Lawrence County and part of Pike County.

Under both plans, Johnson County would remain in the 97th District, which presently includes Johnson and Martin counties along with parts of Floyd and Pike counties.

In addition to Johnson County, the 97th District in the Democratic plan would include Morgan and Wolfe counties, meaning Collins would face Democratic incumbent John Will Stacy of West Liberty in next year’s election.

The Republican proposal would have the 97th District consist of Johnson, Magoffin and Wolfe counties.

Floyd County’s legislators would not change under the plans.

The 95th District, represented by House Speaker Greg Stumbo of Prestonsburg, currently includes most of Floyd County. Under both the Democratic and Republican proposals, it would consist of all of Floyd County and part of Pike County.

Floyd County would remain in the 29th Senatorial District under the GOP Senate plan. The current district, where Democrat Johnny Ray Turner of Prestonsburg is currently the senator, presently includes Floyd, Knott, Letcher and Breathitt, and the Republican plan would keep all but Breathitt County, which would be replaced by Harlan County.

Dennis Scott, 34, pleaded guilty to theft by unlawful taking and agreed to serve two years and to be placed on supervised probation for two years, pay restitution in the amount of $1,682.47, in increments of at least $100 per month to Sumpter CPA, and to testify if needed.

KSP Detective Jason Dials said after the release of the indictments that accountants found money missing and asked law enforcement to initiate an investigation. He also said he thought it was the first Dials questioned Callahan, who advised him that he had become involved in the complaint after being contacted by Linda and Raymond Sumpter, and he advised him to contact them for more details in the case.

Linda Sumpter advised that one of the vendors was an associate of Hinkle and that by looking at just that vendor, they found $9,000. They called the water district superintendent, John Mills, and verified that Colby Maynard had done some work for the district but that the total amount should have been $1,500 to $2,000, so they began doing further research on Colby Maynard.

Hinkle was suspended from her position on Oct. 22, 2012, and terminated Oct. 25, 2012. Hinkle also admitted she had forged commissioners Nita Collier's and John Haney's signatures.

Linda Sumpter said in her statement that it appeared that Hinkle would put in a fake vendor's name and then issue the check to another non-approved vendor. Sumpter also said in her statement that her firm paid the district back with an average 6 percent rate and that her firm is now out the money from the theft. Sumpter said the district has been paid back in full.

Dials said in the report that he made contact with Pillersdorf Law Office, which represents Hinkle, to schedule an appointment regarding the

The checks were cashed at various locations in various counties and that the driver license number or ID number listed matched the name of the people signing the checks.

On Jan. 23, Dials interviewed Hinkle in the presence of Pillersdorf. Hinkle said it

"Sean wanted money, but he never wanted checks issued in his name," Hinkle said in the interview. "Sean always wanted the checks issued in someone else's name."

Hinkle speculated that it was to keep him out of it.

Hinkle said in her statement that Blackburn, Jerry Maynard, Wesley Johnson, Dennis Scott, Colby Maynard, and Dahryl Keller were involved but that Colby Maynard was the main one and that he was the means for others to get the checks to cash them.

been completed, but it's taking a lot for everyone to just get moved into their classroom, and I don't want the teachers to be so exhausted that they aren't ready to receive kids. They've been working around the clock."

Meadows explained the situation via e-mail to members of faculty and staff.

"We have closely monitored the progress of our work this past week," Meadows said in the e-mail. "Our moving contractors (ServPro) certainly lived up to their name—professional service—and exceeded their contractual obligations. They completed their work around 8 p.m. Friday evening. At the direction of our architect (Mike Sparkman), Frederick and May construction came in full force, working nearly around the clock, and in 48 hours, completed all renovations as requested, including fire safety/suppression system compliance. The Kentucky Department of Education gave us every allowance possible to ensure the work was completed."

...insure the work was completed in the shortest amount of time. But...it's the spirit of Martin County that has made me most proud. I'm amazed at the commitment and dedication that our faculty, staff, family, friends, community, and board members, continued to demonstrate during this very difficult and trying time. Above the stress, anxiety, short tempers, struggles for space, missed meals, lack of sleep...sounds a lot like any normal family...there is no doubt in my mind that on August 21, 2013, we would be ready for kids. And most notably, even at near total exhaustion, our faculty and staff would be rolling buses, preparing meals, and standing at the classroom door ready to greet kids with a smile, because that's what we do and nobody does it better! Our kids need to be in school. Under our care and supervision, kids are in a safe, nurturing environment; receive a quality education, nutritious meals, and services above and beyond a job description or contract. What I've witnessed in the past few weeks reminds me only of those times when duty called while serving in the armed forces...and our community has performed above the call of duty and with honor. If I had school-aged children, I would want them in Martin County schools today. And so, it was with much reluctance that I advised the Board of Education to delay our school year. But, we must be at 100% on Day 1—buildings, programs, and people. We only have one chance to get it right for our kids and I believe this will ensure we are at full strength and they truly get what they deserve—the gold standard in public education.”

Meadows said Monday that Kraig Grayson is working on the calendar to try and reduce the number of make-up days necessary for students and faculty.

"We are taking days out where we can and right now it looks like two days for spring break and there is a day on both sides of Thanksgiving," Meadows said. "Kraig is in contact with the KDE. We may have to extend the school year and we are praying that it won't be a bad winter."

Martin County was originally scheduled to begin the school year Aug. 7, but three days before school was scheduled to begin, the board voted to close Sheldon Clark High School and to move the students to Inez Middle School and to merge Inez and Warfield Middle Schools into one building.

Board members made the decision to close the school because of reports from inspectors saying they "believe the structure has questionable adequacy to resist a significant wind, or seismic event," and the continued blasting with rocks falling onto the parking lot was too much of a risk to students."

Servpro, was hired by the district to move all the items from Inez Middle School to Warfield Middle School and from the old Sheldon Clark High School building to Inez Middle School, with the expectation that everything would be finished by no later than Aug. 16, giving faculty and staff a few days to recover before school actually began.

A "Kickoff Breakfast" was still scheduled Tuesday, Meadows said in the e-mail.

To the Editor:

Sincere appreciation. Words won't come when I try to acknowledge my appreciation for all the love, support, prayers and generosity given to me and my family during my cancer benefit on July 20, at Fallsburg Community Center.

I was so overwhelmed with the multitude of family and friends that came out to support me. I felt as if my heart would explode and I am humbled to my knees in thanksgiving for all of God's goodness.

Thank you from the bottom of our hearts for all the volunteers, church families, singers, auctioneer, and especially all the sponsors for the wonderful gifts and donations for the auction.

Thanks for all the baked goods from some wonderful cooks. Special thanks to Molly Oaks, Mary Dixon, Jodi Dixon Allred for making this event unforgettable, they did an awesome job.

Above all, thank you Lord for Your healing hand. Please continue to pray and “stand in the gap” for me as I battle this pancreatic cancer, waiting on my miracle. Love from all of us, eternally grateful.

5 secrets every smart phone user needs to know

by Kim Komando

Kim Komando hosts the nation's largest talk radio show about consumer electronics, computers and the Internet.

Can you believe the modern smartphone has only been around for 6 years? In that short time, it's changed the way society does business, communicates, flirts, gets news, makes news, plays games and so much more. According to a Pew survey, more than half of adults in the U.S. own a smartphone.

That isn't to say most people are smartphone experts. Just owning a smartphone doesn't mean you know all the tricks. In fact, here are five that you might not know, but really should.

1. Take a screenshot

Your friend just made a hilarious typo in their text message and you want to share it with your other friends. Capture it as an image with a screenshot.

On an iPhone, press and hold the Home button along with the Sleep/Wake button. You should hear a shutter click. The screenshot will appear in your Camera Roll or Saved Photos section.

On Androids, hold the Power and Volume Down buttons at the same time. The image is saved to the "Captured Images" folder in your Gallery app. That only works in Android 4.0 and higher, though. For Android 3.0, 2.3 or earlier, use an app like AirDroid.

Once you have the image, share it to your favorite social media site or through email.

2. Salvage a wet phone

It's a heart-stopping moment when you drop your smartphone on the ground. If you don't have a good case, there's a chance it won't survive.

It's even worse if you drop it in the water. Unless you have a waterproof case, your smartphone is sunk - literally.

Or is it? You might be able to salvage it with a few steps.

First, and most important, DON'T turn it on. If you turn it on with water inside, you'll fry it.

Instead, wipe it down with a dry microfiber cloth. If the gadget is dirty, you can clean it with isopropyl rubbing alcohol.

If the phone has a removable battery, take it out. Then fill a container or bag with uncooked rice and put the smartphone in the container overnight. The rice will help pull the moisture out of the gadget.

Under no circumstances put the phone in the oven or microwave!

The next day, put the phone back together and turn it on. If it starts up, congratulations! If not, you're off to the store for a new one.

Want to see this process in action?

3. Find a lost or stolen phone

Mobility is a two-edge sword. Sure you can take your gadget everywhere you go. But once you're there, it's easy to leave it. Maybe a thief walks off with it and your precious information.

Fortunately, iPhones and iPads support Apple's Find My iPhone app. This allows you to use a computer or another iPhone to find your missing phone using GPS. You can also remotely lock and wipe your phone as well.

The upcoming version of iOS, version 7, includes the ability to take photos of the thief. It also has a lock system so they can't wipe the gadget and use it for themselves.

Android gadgets have apps that do the same thing. Where's My Droid?,

Barlow to lead discussion on Confederate states

PAINTSVILLE — The book "Look Away: A History of the Confederate States of America" by William C. Davis will be discussed at the Johnson County Public Library Monday, Aug. 26, at 6 p.m.

The discussion will be led by Dr. Donald L. Barlow, associate professor of History at Big Sandy Community and Technical College. The discussion is part of the library's series of programs commemorating the 150th anniversary of the Civil War.

James McPherson, whose book "Tried by War: Abraham Lincoln as Commander in Chief" generated a rich and lively discussion at the library in May, describes Davis as "one of the best and most prolific historians of the American Civil War." The Free Press, a division of Simon and Schuster, states, "Davis offers a definitive portrait of the Confederacy unlike any other. Drawing on decades of writing and research among an unprecedented number of archives, ranging from the 800-odd newspapers in operation during the war to the personal writings of more than 100 leaders and common citizens, Davis reveals the Confederacy through the words of the Confederates themselves. 'Look Away!' recounts all the epic sagas -- as well as those little-known and long-forgotten -- about a desperate government that socialized the salt industry, rangers and marauders who preyed on their fellow Confederates, and the systematic breakdown of law and order in some states.

A dramatic, definitive account of one of our nation's most searing episodes, 'Look Away!' shows us a South divided against itself, unable to stand."

Barlow holds PhD and M.A. degrees in history from Ball State University, and a B.S. in social science with a major in history from Indiana Wesleyan University. He taught history at Bartlesville Wesleyan College and Oral Roberts University, both in Oklahoma, before coming to BSCTC in 1990. He has served on the Board of the Historical Confederation of Kentucky, served as district coordinator for National History Day for many years, and was selected to participate in a NEH History Seminar at Yale University in 1989. He participates in the annual Ohio Valley History Conference, where he has presented many papers and chaired many sessions on history. Barlow is co-author of a textbook titled "The Western Dream of Civilization."

This program is free and open to the public. Books are available for checkout at the main desk of the library. Refreshments will be served. For more information, call the library at 789-4355.

Interns meet with Combs

by Colby Kirk
IDB INTERN

The Inez Deposit Bank interns met with Judge Sara Combs on July 23. Combs serves as a judge on the Kentucky Court of Appeals and represents District 7, which encompasses the majority of Eastern Kentucky. Combs is originally from Louisville. She attended the University of Louisville, where she majored in French. She went on to teach French for a couple of years before deciding to go on to law school at U of L. Combs is the wife of the late Gov. Bert T Combs. She currently resides at their farm in Stanton, where she has a law practice.

Combs is an annual speaker for the interns and she always has something wonderful prepared. This year she spoke on the theme of the program, "What's Next: The Economic Future and Potential of our Region." She opened by saying that our region's greatest resource is the uniqueness of our people. Combs spoke very highly of the people of Eastern Kentucky. She said that she couldn't have survived anywhere on Earth after her husband's passing except Eastern Kentucky. She says that we can use our generosity to our advantage. This trait is essential when it comes to working with other people, especially when working with someone from outside the region.

Combs went on to speak about the future of our region. The first thing we must do when we begin to look forward is to identify a problem and discern whether or not we have the means to solve this problem. She spoke on the possibility of large-scale honey bee farming. Bees around the world are beginning to disappear. Could they thrive in our area on a large scale? Could we initiate clean coal technologies to save the coal industry? Maybe we could even harness the power of our streams? "The most important thing to think about when we are looking forward is not to look at how bad things are. We have to look at how much better we can make them." She tied this closely with a quote from the famous playwright George Bernard Shaw, who said, "Some men see things as they are and ask why. Others dream things that never were and ask why not."

The judge's second point was about accomplishing these things. We all have to work together. She talked about how her late husband was pushing for the construction of the Mountain Parkway and it took people from both sides of the aisle in Frankfort to get it finalized. We have to use our diverse backgrounds to do good. She said, "The talent in this room could turn Eastern Kentucky on its head!"

SCHOLARSHIPS

THE BIG SANDY Area Community Action Program recently awarded eight academic scholarships to students pursuing higher education in Floyd, Johnson, Magoffin, Martin and Pike counties. Keeping with its mission to improve the lives of people throughout the region, BSACAP has awarded the annual scholarships for more than 20 years, helping hundreds of students continue their education. Present to receive their scholarships were, pictured, from left, front row, Linda Anderson, Alicia Bowen, Danna Spears and Allison Belcher. Back row: Diana Hall, Kelly Webb and Haley Joseph. Also pictured, BSACAP Executive Director James Michael Howell (far left) and Deputy Director Wanda Thacker (far right).

4. Don't share your location

Smartphone cameras are great for the casual shutterbug. You can snap pictures no matter where you go and post them online.

Of course, if you aren't careful you're also sharing your location with everyone. Smartphones can embed GPS information into photos that anyone can read.

You could turn off GPS when you're taking pictures. To turn it off on your iPhone, go to Settings>>Privacy Location Services. You can turn it off for everything or just for the camera.

On an Android, go to Settings>>Location Services and turn GPS off when you don't need it. For Windows Phone, go to Settings>>Location to turn off Location Services.

Of course, you might forget. To see and remove photo information before posting, grab an app like PixelGarde.

5. Creative smartphone uses

Smartphones have way more features than you probably use. But they can do even more than you think. App designers have figured out some creative uses you won't believe.

Heard for iPhone is always recording using your smartphone's microphone. At any time, you can save audio from up to 5 minutes in the past.

Awareness for Android and iPhone uses your smartphone's microphone to keep track of noise around you while you're listening to music. Any sounds louder than regular background noise gets sent to your headphones.

Instant Heart Rate for iPhone and Android uses the phone's camera to figure out your heart rate. It detects the light passing through your finger and how it changes as your heart beats.

Want to go hunting for metal? Metal detector apps for Android and iPhone have you covered. They use your phone's built-in compass to find metals. You just need to hold your phone close to the ground.

Have fun!

Bulldogs to host Boyd County for season opener

LOUISA — Lawrence County is closing in on its 2013 season-opener.

The Bulldogs, under the direction of head coach Joey Cecil, completed the 2012 season 5-7 following a loss to eventual state runner-up Belfry in the second round of the Class 3A State Playoffs. Lawrence County is once again poised to compete in Class 3A, District 8, along with state title contender and perennial district favorite Belfry (12-3), Pike County Central (8-4) and border rival Sheldon Clark (4-7).

Boyd County completed the 2012 season 5-6. New head coach John Gilliam, a longtime assistant coach for Morehead State University, inherited a Boyd County football program that hasn't enjoyed a winning season since 2008. The Lions compete in Class 4A, District 8, along with reigning champion Johnson Central (9-3), Ashland (9-3), Rowan County (4-7) and Greenup County (0-10).

Lawrence County and Boyd County did not meet on the gridiron in 2012.

Betsy Layne, Johnson Central and Sheldon Clark are all open this week. A look at some other matchups in the area follows.

Allen Central (2-9) at East Ridge (1-9): The Rebels will travel to Pike County for an early-season contest versus East Ridge, a squad that has dropped out of district competition. The two teams did not meet in 2012.

Magoffin County (4-7) at South Floyd (5-6): First-year Magoffin County head coach Scotty McCoy is set to make his debut after taking over his father, Chester. Familiar foes, Magoffin County and South Floyd did not meet last season.

Pikeville (7-6) at Prestonsburg (8-4): The Blackcats will host longtime rival Pikeville on Military Appreciation Night. Prestonsburg is set to renew its rivalry with the Panthers.

Pineville (6-6) at Paintsville (2-9): A longtime assistant coach, Joe Chirico is poised to guide the Paintsville Tigers in his first season as head coach. The Tigers will entertain Class A counterpart Pineville. When the two teams met in 2012, Pineville pulled away to beat the Tigers 40-15 in a game that was close most of the way.

Veteran angler Kevin Runyon wins TVBA fishing tournament

ASHLAND — On Aug. 11, the Tug Valley Bass Anglers fishing club held its sixth tournament of the 2013 season on the Ohio River in Ashland. Twenty-six anglers competed in the event with veteran fisherman Kevin Runyon finishing first.

The Ohio River has been up and down for the last month, but for the tournament it was up around two feet and raising. The water was muddy with a stiff current.

Weather for the tournament was good with partly cloudy skies, light winds and an air temperature around 85 degrees.

The fishing was fair for the river. The unstable water conditions had the bass in a bad mood.

The main pattern for this tournament was to fish top water in the morning then switch to soft plastic lures and spinnerbaits on any wood cover and grass in one to six feet of water on the main river. Lures that imitated bait fish were the top producers. The total amount of fish weighed in was 31.63 pounds.

The top finishers were as follows: 1. Kevin Runyon (5 fish), 5.55 lbs.; 2. Lynn Fields

(4 fish), 4.66 lbs.; 3. Joe Collins (3 fish), 3.63 lbs.; 4. Michael Salyer (4 fish), 3.58 lbs.; 5. Greg Maynard (2 fish), 2.22 lbs.; 6. MO (Name withheld) (1 fish), 2.09 lbs.; 7. Tommy Hopkins (2 fish), 1.96 lbs.; 8. Trent Ramey (1 fish), 1.69 lbs.; 9. Keith Pacific (1 fish), 1.36 lbs.; 10. Johnny Webb (1 fish), 1.35 lbs.

Sponsors for the Tug Valley Bass Anglers fishing club are Elliott Supply & Glass, Borders Sporting Goods, TMK Security, Perry Distributors, Fat Boy's ATV Lodging, Muncie's Auto Recycling, Robinson Repairs, City Insurance, Nanack Mini Warehouse & Storage, Tri-County Hardware, NOVA Construction, Jericho Drilling Supply LLC, Atlas Copco, Smith Adjusting, Don's Street Machine, Extreme Sounds, Thoroughbred Steakhouse, AGC Flat Glass, Trey K Electric, Wallen Puckett & Anderson, SKS Security Solutions, Geoscan and Great Outdoors Marine.
